

After Death.
I wonder Love, if after death,
You and I shall sit together,
Talking of our earthly days,
Where we have walked, in soft May weather,
Drinking in the violet's breath.

I wonder Love, if after death,
You and I shall sit together,
Talking of our earthly days,
Where we have walked, in soft May weather,
Drinking in the violet's breath.

Can it be that we shall meet,
Knowing God, but not forgetting
This orb, in its stately setting,
With its June suns and its seas,
After death?

Will your face Love, then be fairer,
Will your voice be sweeter, rarer,
Will your step be dearer, lighter,
Will your eyes be bluer, brighter,
After death?

Oh, if cold should be our meeting,
No clasped arms, no lip greeting,
Woe, no human tongue could utter
Dread, no mortal voice could mutter
Would be death.

DANIEL O'CONNELL.

Considerations for Mr. Bidwell's Consideration.
A correspondent over the signature of "An Old Pioneer," writes to the Red Bluff Sentinel as follows:

Since General John Bidwell is the Republican candidate for Governor, I propose to ask him a few straight-forward, plain questions:—
1st—If you considered the title to your land good, why did you get school warrants enough to cover it?
2d—When the Indians murdered the Heacock family on Rock creek, in Butte county, and the citizens were trying to bring them to justice, why did you send for United States troops and have them sent on to your own door instead of having them sent on to chastise the murderous scoundrels? Was it because you were afraid of your neighbors, or did you wish to protect the Indians because their labor was valuable to you?
3d—Did you have a field of grain burned some years ago, and did you not under the pretext that the Indians set it on fire, make out a bill of $20,000, or thereabouts, against the Government of the United States? Did you get the money? If Uncle Sam is so rich and liberal, there are many others who have similar claims, and who badly need the money.
4th—Some years since some fifty Dogtown Indians ran away from the Round Valley Reservation, and on their way to their old home were taken in charge by one Eddy, who carried them to the ranch of John Bidwell, and they were there worked all the year as field hands, helping to put in and take off the crop. Now why did the nominee of the Reformers present a heavy bill to the Government for boarding said Indians? How much was the bill for?
5th—Did you not say, in your speech at Chico, during your Congressional canvass, that if you had to make choice between allowing a Breckinridge Democrat and a Chinaman to vote, that you would say: "Come along John with your long pigtail!" or words to that effect?

General Items.
Frank McCoppin has been nominated for Senator by the Democracy of the 13th Senatorial District.

Peter Donahue has purchased the town of Lakewille, and will inaugurate expensive improvements in that locality.

The cars of the new fast railway postal train about to be established between New York and Chicago will be painted white.

Immigration into the United States shows a decrease of 30,000 for the year ending June 30, 1876, compared with the year ending June 30, 1875.

This year 263 vessels have arrived in San Francisco from foreign and eastern ports, and the freight money they carried amounted to $2,669,557.

The annual Convention of the Penian Brotherhood, which was to have been held at New York during the present week, has been postponed till January.

The State Board of Equalization foots up the total of all the State's assessable property at $678,638,005, against last year $613,183,223 a gain of $65,454,782.

The native Chinese soldiers who insulted the American Consul and his wife made hostile demonstrations against the British consular at Chen Kiang have been punished.

Painter & Co., of San Francisco, being the lowest bidder, for furnishing material for the new State Printing Office, have awarded the contract, for the sum of $14,978.51.

The exports from this State during the present year, by sea, treasure not included, were valued at $14,902,983; being $1,715,083 more than during the same period last year.

The Democratic gain in the late election in Kentucky is over 10,000 over the vote of 1871. There is also an increase in the Democratic majority of the Legislature of five members.

The Marysville Appeal, an Independent organ, doesn't think that the Independents will elect one of their Congressional candidates. Then what prospect have they of electing a Governor?

Nebraska planted 12,000,000 trees last year. This may seem a small number as compared with Nebraska's necessities, but it must be remembered that four horse thieves can be hung on each tree.

The Virginia Chronicle says that scarcely a drop of rain has fallen the past two months. Last Summer there were continuous showers, but this season has been an exception to preceding years.

The Centennial Committee has resolved to refuse space to private exhibitors whose Government, like those of Russia and Italy, have declined to take official recognition of the international exhibition.

Johnson is the third President whose remains are in Tennessee, and there is a project to bury him with the others in Nashville and erect a grand monument; but his family prefer a simpler grave in East Tennessee.

R. B. Redding, of the C. P. R. R. land office, asserts that the railroad will be running through city to San Francisco by July next. The San Fernando tunnel is progressing favorably.

Andrew Johnson left three living children, Mrs. Senator Patterson, Mrs. W. R. Brown, and his youngest son Frank, who signs as self Andrew Johnson, Jr. He had two other sons of whom Charles died during the war, and Robert in 1869.

Joe Anderson of Franklin township, Indiana, was in luck when he plowed up an old tin bucket and found in it $3,000 in gold and silver. The money is supposed to have been buried by an old Englishman and his wife, since deceased, during the war.

Thomas Boyce, the popular advertising agent, is a candidate for Supervisor from the Ninth ward, San Francisco. He is of the material from which good officers are made, and the people of his ward will do well to elect him their representative.

The Chicago Tribune makes a note of the remarkable fact that one ex-President is living, the wives of five of them survive—Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Fillmore, Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Lincoln, and Mrs. Johnson. Of these ladies, one is insane and another at the point of death.
